

>: Why You Should NOT Sell Your Home

Friday, March 7, 2008 / Dylan Jovine

GOOD MORNING FELLOW TYCOONS.

How are the world's greatest readers doing this Friday morning? I hope you're doing GREAT!

As any long-time Tycoon Report reader knows, I'm not the type of cat with a perpetual smile on my face. People that are happy all of the time generally make me nervous.

However, today I'm happy because today's article, written by fellow Tycoon Report community member Ethan Roberts, is another great example of the power of the collective wisdom of our community members.

In that vein, I want to invite all of you to get involved as well. Write an article. Share your views and experience with the rest of us. Whether you know it or not, many of you have experiences that can seriously help the rest of us in our investment operations.

Post it to our website here. It doesn't cost anything and who knows? Maybe what you have to share will help a fellow Tycoon Report reader avoid a big financial mistake!

I also have a programming note to share with you: I've been moved from Friday to Monday. For those of you who are devastated that I won't be writing today - don't panic! Just hold your breath for 72 hours, and I'll be in your inbox before you know it!

All kidding aside, I hope you have a wonderful and relaxing weekend (especially for those of you who work in an "Office Space" type environment!)
