

>: Tech Stock Insider - Best of 2006

Wednesday, December 27, 2006 / Wayne Mulligan

Dear Tycoon Report Readers,

Since this is Christmas week, and the markets are a bit slow, I decided to take some time to hang out with my family for a while and just kick back. But that doesn't mean I would leave my loyal Tycoon Report readers hanging in the wind. No, no, no. In fact, I have a very special holiday treat for you.

I've spent the last few days going through every Tycoon Report article I've written for 2006. You wouldn't believe how long that took me - and you also wouldn't believe how fun it was to look back on such an exciting year! We had a number of major events in the technology sector this year, and 2007 is promising to be even more eventful.

We're at a pivotal phase in the tech space, and it's important that we all stay informed and on top of our game. Information is key, and it's the only way we'll keep our portfolios ahead of the curve. So I hope you enjoy the Tech Stock Insider Best of 2006 compilation I've put together. Some of them are articles I felt really defined the last 12 months; others are just ones that I personally enjoyed writing. As always, your feedback is welcomed and appreciated.

I've also included my most recent article, "Life as a Tech Insider" - due to some technical difficulties last week, you might not have received it.

Have a happy holiday!

Ever since I started writing for the Tycoon Report, and especially after launching Tech Stock Insider, I've gotten a lot of e-mails from folks asking me, "Wayne, how did you get involved in the tech space? Why should I trust you to give me advice in this sector?" Read More»

Mobile Money

Back in February, I talked a bit about the "online payment war" that was brewing between Google and PayPal. On one side, we have PayPal - an eBay (Nasdaq: EBAY) subsidiary and the market leader in online payment transactions - currently holding 24% of the market. The company recently acquired VeriSign's online payment unit, so it could begin to sign-up new online merchants. Read More»

The Big Apple

What a day, what a day! Since the sun rose this morning (and even before then,) the Tech Community has been abuzz with talk of Apple's (Nasdaq: AAPL) media event, "It's Showtime?" Read More»

Ride This Tidal Wave of Cash

There is a wave of money on its way to the US - Do you see it coming? I see powerful clouds on the horizon. I see a tremendous storm brewing in the Middle Kingdom ? right this very minute! And this storm, my friends, will cause a TIDAL WAVE of money to flow into the United States (and hopefully into your pockets) over the next three years. Read More»

The Biggest Tech Opportunity in China

A few months ago, I wrote to you and told you about a company called China Mobile (NYSE: CHL). I talked to you about how the company was obviously undervalued, and if you didn't get involved immediately, you might miss out on an easy way to put some money in your pocket. Read More»
